Document 1: JP 2001-302289 A (Sekisui Chemical Co., Ltd.), 31 October 2001,
Claims; Paragraphs 0043, 0047, 0064; example 1

Document 2: WO 2003/018502 A1 (Sekisui Chemical Co., Ltd.), 06 March 2003,
Claims; page 19, lines 12-14; page 25, lines 14-26

The inventions of claims 1-5 do not appear to involve an inventive step based on document 1 and document 2.

Document 1 and document 2 describe an intermediate film for laminated glass made from a resin composite containing a polyvinyl acetal resin, an agent for shielding infrared rays, and a phosphate ester compound, and describe that the phosphate ester compound is used as a dispersant for the agent for shielding infrared rays at 5 weight-% or less as well as alkyl ether phosphate ester and tributoxyethyl phosphate as phosphate ester compounds.

Document 1 describes adding a coloring agent or the like in an intermediate film according to the use of the laminated glass, and attempting the addition of a coloring agent in the intermediate film described in document 1 based on the former description could appropriately be achieved by a person skilled in the art.

Furthermore, while document 2 does not directly describe the addition of a coloring agent in an intermediate film, since adding a coloring agent or the like in an intermediate film according to the use of laminated glass is a well known technique as apparent from the description in document 1, attempting the addition of a coloring agent in the intermediate film described in document 2 could appropriately be achieved by a person skilled in the art.
